INTRODUCTION

Welcome to our Kindness Bulletin Board Kit - packed with printable elements that are easy to use, engaging, and visually appealing.

To accommodate your needs and preferences, we have provided two options for each element within the kit: a vibrant full-color version, and an ink-conserving black and white version, which looks fantastic when printed on colored paper. This allows you to customize the look of your bulletin board while also being mindful of resources.

- Bulletin Board Borders: This section includes patterns that you can print, cut, and arrange around the perimeter of your bulletin board to give it a polished, framed appearance.
- Character Focus: Begin by printing, cutting, and displaying the letters to create a section titled “Character Focus” on your board. Then, under this heading, display the word “Kindness” and accompany it with our kid-friendly definition. Engage your students by talking about what kindness means to them and share examples of acts of kindness.
- Weekly Wisdom: Create a “Weekly Wisdom” section by displaying the provided letters. The kit contains 5 different inspiring quotes related to kindness. Switch them out week by week to keep the content fresh. Integrate these quotes into your daily teaching by initiating discussions or writing activities. Encourage students to share their thoughts on the quote, or ask them to write a brief reflection on how they can apply the wisdom in their own lives.
- Power Words: Set up a “Power Words” section with the provided letters. Here, you’ll find positive affirmations to encourage students to practice and adopt empowering beliefs. Encourage students to repeat the affirmation each morning and discuss ways they can live by it.
- Weekly Challenge: Establish a “Weekly Challenge” section using the provided letters. This includes a new kindness-related tasks for students to accomplish each week. Involve your students by discussing the weekly challenge and brainstorming ideas on how they can complete it. Encourage students to share their experiences and achievements during the week.

By integrating these elements into your bulletin board and daily teaching, you will be cultivating an environment that not only educates but inspires and empowers your students.

Wishing you a fantastic year of teaching with social and emotional learning at its core
